Investment Objective

The Mid-Cap Fund's investment objective is to achieve capital appreciation.

Fees and Expenses of the Fund

This table describes the fees and expenses that you may pay if you buy and hold shares of the Mid-Cap Fund.

	Class N	Institutional Class
SHAREHOLDER FEES (fees paid directly from your investment)
Redemption Fees (as a percentage of amount redeemed on shares held for 60 days or less)	2.00%	2.00%
ANNUAL FUND OPERATING EXPENSES (expenses that you pay each year as a percentage of the value of your investment)
Management Fees	0.75%	0.75%
Other Expenses (includes Shareholder Servicing Plan Fees)	1.17%	1.02%
Shareholder Servicing Plan Fees	0.15%	None
Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses ⁽¹⁾	1.92%	1.77%
Less: Fee Waiver ⁽²⁾	-0.58%	-0.58%
Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses After Fee Waiver	1.34%	1.19%

(1) Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses do not correlate to the Ratio of Expenses to Average Net Assets in the Financial Highlights section of the statutory prospectus, which reflects the operating expenses of the Mid-Cap Fund and does not include expenses of 0.01% attributed to acquired fund fees and expenses ("AFFE").

(2) Chase Investment Counsel Corporation (the "Adviser") has contractually agreed to waive all or a portion of its management fees and pay Mid-Cap Fund expenses (excluding AFFE, leverage interest, and extraordinary expenses) in order to limit Total Annual Fund Operating Expenses for the Mid-Cap Fund Class N and Institutional Class shares to 1.33% and 1.18% of the Fund's average daily net assets, respectively (the "Expense Caps"). The Expense Caps will remain in effect through at least January 27, 2019, and may be terminated only by the Board of Trustees (the "Board") of Advisors Series Trust (the "Trust"). The Adviser may request recoupment of previously waived fees and expenses from the Fund for three years from the date they were waived or paid, subject to the Expense Caps.

Example. The Example is intended to help you compare the cost of investing in the Mid-Cap Fund with the cost of investing in other mutual funds. The Example assumes that you invest $10,000 in the Fund for the time periods indicated and then redeem all of your shares at the end of those periods. The Example also assumes that your investment has a 5% return each year and that the Fund's operating expenses remain the same (taking into account the Expense Caps only in the first year). Although your actual costs may be higher or lower, based on these assumptions your costs would be:

	1 Year	3 Years	5 Years	10 Years
Class N	$136	$547	$983	$2,196
Institutional Class	$121	$501	$905	$2,036

Portfolio Turnover. The Mid-Cap Fund pays transaction costs, such as commissions, when it buys and sells securities (or "turns over" its portfolio). A higher portfolio turnover rate may indicate higher transaction costs and may result in higher taxes when Fund shares are held in a taxable account. These costs, which are not reflected in annual fund operating expenses or in the Example, affect the Fund's performance. During the most recent fiscal year, the Fund's portfolio turnover rate was 148.07% of the average value of its portfolio.

Principal Investment Strategies

Under normal market conditions, the Mid-Cap Fund invests at least 80% of its net assets, plus any borrowings for investment purposes, in the equity securities of companies with medium market capitalizations (a “mid-cap company”). This policy may only be changed upon sixty (60) days’ prior notice to shareholders. The Adviser generally considers a mid-cap company to be one that has a market capitalization of between $1 billion and $20 billion. Mid-cap company stocks that the Adviser purchases for the Fund typically have earnings growth in excess of 10% per year on a historical basis, have demonstrated consistency of earnings growth over time and are believed by the Adviser to be of higher quality than other mid-cap company stocks. The Fund may regularly have significant exposure to one or more sectors of the market. For example, as of September 30, 2017, 29% of the Fund’s net assets were invested in securities within the technology sector. In addition, the Fund may invest a portion of its assets in non-U.S. issuers through the use of depository receipts, such as American Depository Receipts (“ADRs”). The Fund may also use money market funds or exchange-traded funds (“ETFs”) for its cash position.

In buying and selling portfolio securities, the Adviser first screens companies for 10% or greater earnings growth over the last five years, consistency of earnings, and liquidity. The Adviser then applies a proprietary filter to find stocks with certain characteristics, such as earnings momentum and relative price performance, as well as a number of other fundamental and technical factors. The Adviser then conducts traditional fundamental security analysis to identify the key drivers of growth for each candidate, assess the risks to the company, and determine the most attractive buys for the Mid-Cap Fund. The Adviser continuously reviews prices and adjusts its price targets in response to changes in stock characteristics. The existence of alternative securities that the Adviser considers to be more attractive is an added consideration in deciding whether to sell portfolio securities.

The Adviser expects that the Mid-Cap Fund’s investment strategy may often result in a portfolio turnover rate in excess of 100% on an annual basis.

Principal Investment Risks

Losing a portion or all of your investment is a risk of investing in the Mid-Cap Fund. The following additional risks could affect the value of your investment:

- General Market Risk – Economies and financial markets throughout the world are becoming increasingly interconnected, which increases the likelihood that events or conditions in one country or region will adversely impact markets or issuers in other countries or regions. Securities in the Fund’s portfolio may underperform in comparison to securities in general financial markets, a particular financial market or other asset classes, due to a number of factors, including inflation (or expectations for inflation), interest rates, global demand for particular products or resources, natural disasters or events, terrorism, regulatory events and government controls.
- Management Risk – The Mid-Cap Fund’s ability to achieve its investment objective depends on the Adviser’s ability to correctly identify economic trends and select stocks, particularly in volatile stock markets.
- Equity Securities Risk – The price of equity securities may rise or fall because of economic or political changes or changes in a company’s financial condition, sometimes rapidly or unpredictably. These price movements may result from factors affecting individual companies, sectors or industries selected for the Fund’s portfolio or the securities market as a whole, such as changes in economic or political conditions.
- Medium-Sized Company Risk – A mid-cap company may be more vulnerable to adverse business or economic events than stocks of larger companies. These stocks present greater risks than securities of larger, more diversified companies.
- Sector Emphasis Risk – The securities of companies in the same or related businesses, if comprising a significant portion of the Fund’s portfolio, could react in some circumstances negatively to market conditions, interest rates and economic, regulatory or fiscal developments and adversely affect the value of the portfolio to a greater extent than if such business comprised a lesser portion of the Fund’s portfolio.

- Technology Sector Risk – Information technology companies face intense competition, both domestically and internationally, which may have an adverse effect on profit margins. Like other technology companies, information technology companies may have limited product lines, markets, financial resources or personnel. The products of information technology companies may face product obsolescence due to rapid technological developments and frequent new product introduction, unpredictable changes in growth rates and competition for the services of qualified personnel. Technology companies and companies that rely heavily on technology, especially those of smaller, less-seasoned companies, tend to be more volatile than the overall market.
- Depository Receipt Risk – Depository receipts involve risks similar to those associated with investments in foreign securities and certain additional risks. Investments in foreign securities may involve financial, economic or political risks not ordinarily associated with the securities of U.S. issuers. Depository receipts listed on U.S. exchanges are issued by banks or trust companies, and entitle the holder to all dividends and capital gains that are paid out on the underlying foreign shares. When the Fund invests in depository receipts as a substitute for an investment directly in the underlying foreign shares, the Fund is exposed to the risk that the depository receipts may not provide a return that corresponds precisely with that of the underlying foreign shares.
- Portfolio Turnover Risk – A high portfolio turnover rate (100% or more) has the potential to result in the realization and distribution to shareholders of higher capital gains, which may subject you to a higher tax liability.

The Mid-Cap Fund is intended for investors who:

- Have a long-term investment horizon;
- Want to diversify their investment portfolio by investing in a mutual fund that invests in securities of mid-cap companies; and/or
- Are willing to accept the greater risks of investing in a portfolio with significant common stock holdings.

Performance

The following performance information provides some indication of the risks of investing in the Mid-Cap Fund and reflects the period for which the Adviser was retained as the Fund's investment adviser (including a period during which the Fund was organized as a different mutual fund). The bar chart shows the annual returns for the Fund's Class N shares from year to year since retention of the Adviser. The table shows how the Fund's Class N and Institutional Class shares average annual returns for 1-year, 5-years, and 10-years and since retention of the Adviser compare with those of broad measures of market performance and an index that reflects the Lipper category applicable to the Fund. The Fund's past performance, before and after taxes, is not necessarily an indication of how the Fund will perform in the future. Tax Information

The Mid-Cap Fund's distributions are taxable, and will be taxed as ordinary income or capital gains, unless you invest through a tax-deferred arrangement, such as a 401(k) plan or an IRA. Distributions on investments made through tax-deferred arrangements may be taxed later upon withdrawal of assets from those accounts.

Payments to Broker-Dealers and Other Financial Intermediaries

If you purchase the Mid-Cap Fund through a broker-dealer or other financial intermediary, the Fund and/or the Adviser may pay the intermediary for the sale of Fund shares and related services. These payments may create a conflict of interest by influencing the broker-dealer or other financial intermediary and your salesperson to recommend the Fund over another investment. Ask your salesperson or visit your financial intermediary's website for more information.
